FEATURING

Nettle Leaf

Traditionally valued as an herbal panacea, Nettle has been used as a food and herbal remedy for thousands of years. Containing a wide spectrum of highly absorbable vitamins and minerals, Nettle leaf supports a healthy immune system and inflammatory response function balance. The extract tonifies and firms nasal and sinus tissues.*

Eyebright

Eyebright, with a long history of use in European folk medicine, was a favorite of the Eclectic physicians for addressing nasal health. Its various properties work to support respiratory health and Eyebright also helps to maintain proper immune system function.*

Red Root

Red Root acts on the blood, the lymph fluids and the lymph system, improving their tone and action. It is used to support the structure of the lymph system and the blood's circulatory ability.*

Osha Root

Osha root was traditionally used by Native Americans for healthy function of the respiratory and sinus systems. Natural compounds found in the root include camphor, saponins, terpenes and phytosterols. Traditional herbalists felt it helped promote healthy blood circulation and oxygenation of the blood.*

Fenugreek and Thyme

Traditional herbalists combined these two herbs for respiratory system support. Fenugreek, an important herb to the Greeks, is also used in Chinese and Ayurvedic herbal traditions. Thyme, containing essential oils, is picked at summer's end in Provence, France for use in the winter. Herbal traditions used these herbs to promote a clear and healthy respiratory tract and sinus cavity.*

Wasabi

The Wasabi plant, native to Japan, is a member of the cruciferous family. Used by Japanese herbalists since the tenth century, Wasabi root can provide an immediate support for sinus health.*
